by DRAPER & Co. the highest market price for cotton in money or goods.

will hereafter be in each month of the year.

Parties in need of his services will remember this.

JACKSONVILLE ALA.
MONDAY, MARCH 20, 1871.

Present: C. L. Turney, Intendant.
Wm. D. D. Privett, L. W. Grant, Ed. L. Woodward, and Joe S. Montgomery, Counsellors.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

Committee to examine Report of old Treasurer, report, that after thorough investigation, they find the Incorporation due him $160.80.

Committee to report the best plan for working the streets, recommended the purchase of a mule and cart, and the employment of one man to keep the same going steadily throughout the year.

The Council adopted the suggestion and J. D. Privett, Ed. L. Woodward, Joe S. Montgomery and Wm. D. D. Privett, were appointed a committee to make such purchases as they may deem such for the existence of the annual.

The Committee on the Graveyard was allowed further time in which to report.

The Committee on the revision of ordinances recommended that Ordinance No. 15, as amended to be more effectually enforced, and that Ordinance No. 26 be amended to make the license tax of a Circus or Menagerie $50 for each days performance, and all other exhibitions for pay $25 and $10 respectively; providing, however, that the ordinance should not apply to exhibitions given by the citizens of the Town for charitable purposes; and allowing the Intendant discretion in the case of travelling exhibitions given for charitable purposes.

The Council then went into Committee of the whole on ordinances and amendments thereto as follows:

No. 5, was amended to make the license tax for shooting a gun or pistol within two hundred yards of any house in the Incorporation, and also as to strike out the clause allowing particular fire on their own premises.

No. 7, was amended to make the license tax for shooting a gun or pistol less than five nor more than ten dollars for indecent exposure of the person.

No. 10, in relation to unloading road wagons on Sunday was repealed.

No. 13, in relation to selling spirituous or liquors to minors etc. was so amended as to strike out "on the premises of the U. S.," and also so as to raise the fine for selling to minors, pupils etc. from Twenty to Fifty Dollars for each.

No. 16, was amended to make the maximum fine $10 instead of $5, for willfully riding on the sidewalks etc.

No. 24, was so amended as to allow the Intendant to remit both fine and costs in cases where he sees proper.

No. 26, was further amended so as to raise the license to retail spirituous liquors from $500 to $500 a year.

No. 28, in relation to chain gang was repealed.

No. 29, was so amended as to require each person subject to road duty in the Incorporation to work 10 days in each year, or forfeit one dollar per day for each day of failure to work when summoned; providing however, that those paying the street tax of $3, shall be exempt from such duty and penalty.

No. 30, was amended so as to place the maximum fine for drunkenness at $10, instead of $5.

Resolved that all license for the sale of spirituous liquors within the Incorporation, for the year 1870, is now due and shall be paid on demand by the Marshal.

Committee of two was appointed to estimate cost of raising high and dangerous foot bridges in the town.

Council refused to remit the tax of $5 on Dealers whose sales amount to less than $5000.

On motion the account of Capt. D. P. Perry of $75, for services heretofore rendered as Intendant, in the trial of officers under ordinance in force from January, 1869 to May 7, 1869 was allowed. He was further allowed an account of $67 to come out of fine and forfeiture fund, under ordinance adopted May 7, for same character of service.

Account of Montgomery Bros. for $25.00 for box of candles furnished Council, was allowed.

Account of S. M. Pait, of $7.87 for lumber furnished old Council, was allowed and ordered paid out of first monies in the Treasury.

Account of Mrs. E. J. Tate of $18 for hauling done, was laid over until next meeting.

Council adjourned to meet again at Intendant's office on Monday next, 3rd day of April.

Outside have been admiring the splendid and ingeniously contrived Cotton Planter on exhibition at Woodward's.

It is for sale, ten per cent. cheaper than the price at the manufactory. It will lay off plant and cover 15 acres of cotton a day. The price is a mere nothing.

The Jacksonville Iron Foundry, east in the best of style everything mentioned in their advertisement and many more things besides. We have had the pleasure of examining some of their castings and unhesitatingly pronounce them as smooth and even as any we ever saw. Patronize no no industry.

"Mungie" is liking his pony better than he thought he did. He has found her to be a regular trick mare. Yesterday he put her in his buggy for a drive and she went through some very interesting evolutions, such as standing on her head, rearing away up behind &c. She also performed some wonderful gymnastic feats over the shales, much to "Mungie's astonishment and amusement. Had the shales not broken there is no telling what wonderful capacity as a trapeze performer she would have developed.

Attention is invited to the advertisement of J. B. Turney & Co. They want money and parties will probably save money by early settlement.

We were glad to meet yesterday our friend Perill of the Montgomery Advertiser. The Advertiser has already a good circulation in our midst and it is well represented in Perill. That paper has the name of the "old reliable" among us and well deserves patronage at the hands of our people. To our lawyers and others who take it, the morning Advertiser is as essential as their breakfast. Our best wishes always attend the Advertiser.

Seima, Rome & Dalton R. R.

In a conversation, a few evenings since between the Proprietor of this paper and Capt. E. G. Barney, Gen'l Supt. of the above named Road, the fact was ascertained, that 101 miles of this road was finished at an average cost of $15,000 per mile. This, we venture to say, is without a parallel in the history of the construction of first class Railroads.

Capt. Barney, too, (to his credit be it stated,) uniformly and persistently opposed the policy of exorbitant State aid to Railroads, and refused to unite with any "ring" or influence to procure such aid for his own road; believing as he did that such policy was unjust to many classes of tax payers, and would eventually prove injurious, if not ruinous, to the credit and interest of both the State and Roads.

We were much gratified too to learn, that since the completion of the road, its business and profits have steadily and constantly increased, the same system, economy and good management having been continued. Capt. B. certainly deserves to stand in the front rank, not only of Railroad Builders, but also of Superintendents and Managers.

The Young Husband's Dilemma.

John had just married and brought home a bride.

A graceful and buxom and beautiful bride.

And when at the altar he stood by her side,

It seemed the last drop in his full cup of bliss.

Indeed she was one of the fairest of creatures;

Her lips were like rubies, her teeth white as pearls;

The roses might have borrowed their hues of her features;

The sunlight was dazzled by her bright golden curls.

With feasting and music the swift moments flew,

Till midnight approached and the bride and her groom,

After bidding their friends and companions adieu,

Retired—both together, of course—to their room.

There her beautiful wreath and her gossamer veil,

On the top of the bureau she carefully laid,

Then placing her dress, with its long silken trail,

O'er the back of a chair by the side of her bed.

And then, one by one—but I can't tell the name,

Of the various garments, embroidered and white;

Not the feeling that over the young husband came

As he sat and observed her disrobe for the night.

But many a brilliant illusion, I ween,

The possession of such a position dispelled.

That wonderful power, the pecking of belles.

So John felt, on seeing these beautiful curls

These glorious masses of bright golden hair,

And the teeth he admired—they were whiter than pearls—

All laid in a box that she placed on a chair.

Meantime in that box something more caught his eye,

To show her the artist Dame Nature can mock—

A full and judiciously chosen supply

Of cosmetics ad lib., rough, enamel and chalk.

From her cheeks came her plumpers—which, lest she should lose 'em

She placed in her box, too, along with the rest;

Then swiftly detached the full plumpant bosom

Her lover so fondly—so blindly—had pressed.

Then she placed on the chair the huge cushion she wore,

When her husband was still more than ever nonplused,

To see what he never had witnessed before.

A fair woman's bustle abreast of her bust.

Then touching a spring that was hidden some where,

Her lower limbs parted precisely in halves,

And she laid on the altar—I mean on the chair—

Her last sacrifice—a pair of fat calves.

Her dissection completed, she plunged under cover,

Like a lath that might into a rivulet drop.

Then tenderly asked of her motionless lover,

"My darling, how long do you mean to sit up."

"My dear, I'm quite undecided," he said,

"What course in the case would be proper and full."

To follow the fraction that got into bed,

Or stay with the part that is pulled in the chair."

The Elyton Sun, publishes by authority the names of eleven candidates for the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector. These are out early considering the election comes off the fourth Tuesday in November.

We believe it to be a good plan though, for it will have the effect of keeping some of them on their good behaviors longer than they have ever been since they grew too large for the birch rod—

When does Calhoun propose to open the ball? We will be most happy to place any gentleman's name before the people and keep it there eight months, provided, such gentleman accompanies his request with a five Dollar greenback. We are thus particular about seeing the money, because it has been our experience that the poorest pay in the world is a defeated candidate.

CALHOUN'S BROADCAST SEED SOWER.

FOR SOWING ALL KINDS OF GRAIN AND GRASS SEED.

The unprecedented success of this Seed Sower the past year is without a parallel in the history of Agricultural Implements. It has probably received more First Premiums at State Fairs in the fall of 1869, than was ever awarded any other machine of any kind.

Joseph Harris, of Wades and Talks, in AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST, says: "I like the Calhoun Sower very much indeed." The following from a noted grain grower, speaks for itself.

November 1st, Nov. 18, 1869. Dear Sir,—The Broadcast Seed Sower you sent me last spring is the best I ever saw. I used it in the sowing of wheat in 10 hours, and the sowing of the Drill—taking one half with the Sower and the other with the Drill. The work was done one-quarter of the time with the Sower, the crop, when threshed, yielded more, and the grain was better. I have used it entirely for my fall sowing of wheat and corn, for sowing grass seeds, clover or millet, no other machine could do the work so well. A great many farmers, when they saw it, said it was only a play toy until they saw it in a fifty-acre field, with one man travelling as fast as he could walk, and carrying grain to him, and four teams following after. Their next business was to watch their crop when up, but all were surprised to find it so evenly distributed.

WILLIAM CHICKER, Danport Ala., May 4, 1870. Messrs. E. F. Redfield & Co., Jasper Tenn. Gentles: The Calhoun's Broad Cast Seed Sower you sent me this spring has done every thing for the work intended I ever saw. I would not do without it for its price each season. It does its work on a farm at a great saving of labor, time and seed. Yours truly, A. Gunter.

We warrant the Hand Machine to sow 50 acres of wheat in 10 hours, and the Horse Power Machine to sow 120 acres in the same time, and the work to be done with greater precision and accuracy than it can be done by any other means whatever.

Price of Hand Sowers, $10.00; Horse Power, $50.00. Send for Circulars.

HOMES TESTIMONY. Jasper Tenn., May 1, 1870. Messrs. E. F. Redfield & Co. Gentles:—I find Calhoun's Broadcast Seed Sower all you claim for it, and we are not able to take ten times the price paid for it and do without it. It is decidedly the best thing out. Very respectfully, W. J. Kelly.

Jasper Tenn., May 10, 1870. Messrs. E. F. Redfield & Co. Gentles:—I am more than pleased with the Seed Sower you sold me. I consider I save the price in a single barrel of seed. It is certainly one of the best things out. Yours truly, JACKSON PRYOR.

Messrs. E. F. REDFIELD & CO. GENTS:—I have seen Calhoun's Seed Sower in operation, and it will do all the work claimed for it. A man will have to sow but a very small quantity of seed to make it pay for it in a single year.

Yours truly, T. S. WOOD. E. F. REDFIELD & CO. General Wholesale Agents for Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia. Jasper, Tennessee.

We want active live men to canvass every county in this territory.

TERMS TO CLUBS. We offer the following great inducements to farmers clubbing together for their Agricultural Implements.

We have over one thousand plows—all sold at Manufacturers' net prices, WITHOUT FREIGHT. To clubs ordering ten plows at one time, we will give one extra plow, same size as others ordered.

We have in stock over one thousand Calhoun's Broad Cast Seed Sowers. To clubs ordering six at one time we will send one machine FREE.

We sell Gale's Copper Strip Feed Cutter and warrant it to be the best in use. To clubs ordering ten at one time we will send one free.

We sell the Star Corn Shelter—both double and single, warranted the best in use. Single $24, double $28. Double Star worth $24. Clubs ordering ten at a time, will receive one, same size, free.

We freely warrant everything we sell and the above will enable farmers to obtain the farm implements cheaper than they can from any other market. We furnish illustrated price lists, and catalogues when desired.

Send for Circulars of the following desirable Machines. Cane Mills, Sugar Evaporators, Steel composition Bells, for churches, schools, farms, &c. &c.

Warner's revolving Rake. Buckeye Thresher & Cleaner. IMPROVED 4 HORSE LEVER POWER.

PALMER ALBUM. IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES. Price $5.00 per volume or $25.00 per set. COMPLETE. Description of the Work. THE PALMER ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published, and by those who have examined several portions of the work, it has the pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page superfinishes on wood and 200 pages of reading matter descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired.

Sold by Subscription, Only. Vol. I. is devoted to Wild American Birds. Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals. Vol. III. American Domesticated Birds and Animals. Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals. Vol. V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will be complete without this addition to its treasures; while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

Agents Wanted. We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once. Any Young Man, or

A SPEECH FROM THE GREAT MEDICINE MAN.

Dr. Ayer, the Man who has made his Million out of Printers Ink—How he Advertis.

On the occasion of naming a new town in Massachusetts, after Dr. Ayer, a banquet was given at which many toasts were proposed and speeches made. Among others, Dr. Ayer spoke. After tracing in most beautiful language the history of the classic town of Ayer in Scotland and his descent from the ancient and honorable family of that name, the great Advertiser continued:

"My friends, you have chosen the name I inherited for your town with an extraordinary unanimity, and have thereby conferred an honor upon me the property acknowledgment of which I do not feel fully able to express. But I beg you to be assured that it is appreciated and that I will be gratefully remembered with a living interest in your prosperity while life remains to me, and, I trust, beyond that by my children after me."

If this name has become noted among the many that are worthy around you, that is greatly due to its publicity. May I be permitted to state wherein that came? Until within a few centuries the civilized nations of the globe were pent up on the Eastern continent. Two or three hundred years ago they looked over into this; few and far between, then more and more but always in their settlements timidly hugging the Atlantic coast. Within the last two or three generations, they have burst out, as it were, and over-run these vast continents of the West. Now they are scattered here and possess these measureless stretches of mountains and valleys, hills, plains, forests and prairies with the boundless equipment of the largest of South America. Former generations lived in villages and towns, thickly settled together where physicians were plenty and near at hand. Now, the people are widely scattered, in many cases in many countries. For great numbers the timely treatment of physicians cannot be had; over large tracts of country good or competent physicians cannot be had at all. They can not visit patients enough many miles apart to live by their profession, nor can they carry medicines enough with them on horseback for their requirements. Hence have arisen in these modern times, a necessity for remedies ready at hand, with directions for their use—a present recourse for relief in the exigencies of sickness, when no other aid is near. It is a new necessity consequent upon the changed conditions of human life—a want I have spent my years in supplying and I will tell something of its extent. Our laboratory makes every day some 630,000 portions or doses of our preparations. These are all taken by somebody. There is a number equal to the population of fifteen millions of people, taking them every day (for sickness keeps no Sabbaths) not for once only, but again and again year after year, through nearly one of a century. We, through nearly one of a century, have been about the business of making medicines as we do about the Doctor's mission to kill, the clergyman's insincerity and the lawyer's cheating. Yet each of these professions has its most ardent advocates. Sick and suffering and its attendant suffering are no joke, neither is the treatment of them. This system of transportation, to be made available to the people, must keep its remedies fresh in their memories. This is done by advertising. Mark its extent: An advertisement, taking the run of the newspapers with which we contract (some 1,000 annually), is struck off in such numbers, that when piled upon each other, like the leaves of a book, the thickness through them is sixteen miles. In addition, it takes some seven millions of pamphlets and twelve millions of circulars to meet the public demand for this kind of information. Our annual issue of pamphlets alone, laid solid upon each other, makes a pile eight and one quarter miles high. The circulars measured endwise reach 18,000 miles, and these assertions are matters of mathematical certainty. What ever the extent of such numbers, they are not to be feared, they reach the freeways of millions upon millions of men who do treasure and regard them, and who in their trials do heed the counsel they contain.

Not only over these great Western continents but throughout that other land so little known to you, under our feet, the American continent, there are five villages as large as this which are not familiar with the name you have chosen, and employing the remedies that bear it.

Thus, gentlemen, have I striven in my humble sphere to render some service to my fellow men, and to deserve among the afflicted and unfortunate some regard for the name which is rendered to you. Build schools for these walls around me. We may look forward with confidence hope to the renewal you will gather under it, and the prosperity, which there is reason to trust, that there is store for you. Situated as you are on one of the main arteries between the west and east, between the great industries of the plain and the spindle you must aid in their exchanges and thrive with them. Soon these channels will be opened wide and pouring through your precincts streams of men and merchandise that will need your furniture and must contribute to your growth.

Located here in the centre of New England to what danger might you turn that men in habit? Begging is not a thing that may be used of your mother town whose influence through her schools and her scholars is of itself an inheritance, with such examples as Lawrence, Boutwell, Hoad, and many more, not to be forgotten in the councils of the state and nation?

Contrast our condition with that of the European nations, alternately torn and divided, and you will find it is not to be feared, that the better education of the people, and you will realize the value of the example old mother Groton has set you, to worthy of your ambition to follow. Build schools for your children and find talent to teach them, then intelligence and integrity in prosperous and happy homes will be your sure reward. Associated as you are with the west and east, I wish I might be allowed to contribute from my means such as they are, something towards this first foundation of the public good.

Gentlemen, I have detained you too long. Oppressed with the fact, that I do not deserve the distinctions you bestow, I pray God to make me worthy of the name upon you with his perpetual blessings.

COTTON GROWING.—At the New Orleans Fair last April, the cost to produce a pound of cotton was discussed. The conclusion reached was, that on the best alluvial soils, a good season and with close management, ten cents will make a pound; but on the average upland, and with the average economy, the planter loses when he does not receive fifteen cents per pound.

Gen. Butler is said to contemplate cutting loose from the Grant wing of the Republican party. Being a representative from Massachusetts, and having, it is said, hopes of the Governorship of the State, he probably thinks that the action of the President in procuring the dismissal of Sumner may affect his own prospects, unless he shows himself in sympathy with the prevailing local sentiment.

Fancy the horror of the Cincinnati whiskey men upon learning that Indiana whiskey was being sold in that city at seventy-five cents a gallon, which is about seven and one half cents below Government charges, insurance, freight and commissions, without taking into account the cost of production.

DR. SCHENCK'S CONSUMPTIVE CURE.

Dr. Schenck's Consumptive Cure is a medicine that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably good case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose is in winter, is Florida, well down in the State where the temperature is regular, and no subject to such variations as in more Northern latitudes. Florida is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles further down the river is a point where I would prefer to make a halt, as the temperature is more even and the air dry and bracing. Melbourne and Enterprise are located there. I should give a preference to Melbourne for this purpose, as it is nearer to the river and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients could at times but that is a point I can not command. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. JACKSONVILLE

APRIL 15, 1871.

Proceedings of the Council.

JACKSONVILLE ALA.
MONDAY APRIL 10, 1871.

Council Chamber.
Present.—Geo. I. Turnley, Intendant.
Wm. Dean, J. D. Privett, J. W. Grant, Ed. L. Woodward, and Joe S. Montgomery, Councilmen.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

On motion, a committee of three was appointed to draw off and arrange all the ordinances of the town.

On motion, the committee on the purchase of dry and mule was empowered to procure a laborer to work on the streets by the year.

The Intendant was requested to ascertain and instruct the Marshal as to his mode of procedure in collecting by law the amount due as taxes from Delinquent tax payers.

Account of $7 00 for street labor allowed in favor of John Garrett, Wm. Hudson, Thos Baker and J. B. Watson. Council adjourned to meet again Monday 17th inst.

Editorial Republics.

The question of supplying our Town (City in embryo) with water is one of some interest here now. Nature has fixed a Mountain stream near by, whose source is elevated far above the level of our Town; and a large and beautiful spring in the vale below. From one of these sources water must come if it is to be used.

From the mountain side water may be brought by means of simple piping to supply the whole Town. From the spring it can be brought to the square to supply a portion of the Town, by means of machinery, hydraulic rams &c. Advantages of the spring waterworks cite us to the cities of Huntsville and Chattanooga, and claim these as practical illustrations as to what can be done.

On a recent visit to Chattanooga the writer inspected the water works of the city and found at the corners of all the principal squares a Hydrant with screw and tap. Uncover the tap and screw on the hose and out gushes a stream of water with a force that passes it over a three or four story building, 30 yards off or more. And in many of the rooms of business and private houses, just turn a faucet and out gushes the water in abundant supply. Delighted with this the writer desired to be shown to the machinery that propelled these streams of water. But imagine his surprise when informed it required no machinery—nothing but simple pipes, leading from a reservoir on a hill overlooking the city. That is all.

Why is that all? Why then, is it said we have a steam engine and other machinery to supply our city with water? The answer was "Oh, that is simply to draw the water into the Reservoir above the water of itself, voluntarily reaching willing speed hastes to supply the needs of the city below."

Si Mr. Editor, the writer has learned that that all this expensive and ever deepening machinery is to do for Jacksonville to give the water a position sufficiently elevated, for man's use, whence it runs with willing speed to any point desired in the city, to serve man. The man in the anecdote said the works of nature are grand, useful and sublime; but the works of art far surpass them.

Which way will the people of Jacksonville decide this question in their practical operations in supplying our city with water.

TAX PAYER.

We invite the attention of our people to the advertisement of E. Johnson & Son, Selma Ala. It will be observed that on hills of over $50 00 are made with their house, they lay down the goods at their doors, as cheap as if we had bought them at the counter in Selma, sans freight, sans boxing, sans everything that adds to the cost. Smaller bills they also; but on the other hand, the freight, which is a mere nothing, nothing we could say in the way of commutation of this firm would be trifling for E. Johnson is well known among us as a splendid business man and a most upright gentleman. Their goods for selling at the low price they put to sell at are good. Mr. Johnson is at present in the establishment and will take great pleasure in showing to his friends from Jacksonville the variety who have any cash orders to do. Try them.

Devil made quite an unconscious man he got off the following: "Bader says that the negro is today worthy of the right of suffrage than any true, very true," says our cub, "that have you turned Radical," another type, "no means," says our Devil, "the master of the negro is the Radical."

Long "List of License" and other items coming in on the day of the week up keeps out a lot of Editorial. We had in the hands of the printer composition.

Kind friends in Jacksonville.

From you, reluctantly, and great distance will separate us; you never see us again, yet you may be remembered by me. I return many thanks to all; and to the kind family and Physician who took care of me, and who at last nursed me so carefully during illness. May the orphan's and God bless you and yours; and ever be the prayer of the little.

LIZZIE HUDSON.
April 10th, 1871.

Court is going on smoothly. The Criminal Docket has been to dispose of this week and much of it has been cleared.

See advertisement of J. B. Turnley & Co. in another column, in which they make the last call to their debtors.

Some interesting particulars respecting the French and German war have just been published in Berlin from official sources. When war was declared by France on July 19, the German frontier was substantially defenseless; and if the French forces had been ready to move down so almost without resistance. It required seven days to get the German armies into movable order, and thirteen days to transport them to their first lines of operations, extending from Treves on their right to London on their left. During this period forty thousand men a day were conveyed by rail to their appointed positions. This makes a force of 540,000 effective men with which the Germans began their campaign. In this great work of transportation five principal railroads were used, but most of the business was done by three of them. It was the men, but their artillery, horses, munition, and provisions, had to be transported. One fifth of this great force had to be brought a distance of from three hundred to four hundred miles. The first great battle, that of Woerth, was fought on August 6, and the war was really ended with the surrender of Paris on January 28, in all one hundred and seventy five days. Seven pitched battles and one hundred and fifty six engagements were fought. The Germans took six fortresses, more than six thousand seven hundred cannon, and one hundred and twenty engines of other engines, and they made prisoners of eleven thousand six hundred and fifty officers and three hundred and sixty three thousand men. The investment of Paris lasted from September 19 to January 28, one hundred and thirty days in all. The siege had twenty two engagements in consequence of sorties, some of which attracted almost the dimensions of battles. There were only three naval engagements in the war; one at Hildesheim, on September 19; one at Paderborn, on September 12; and one near Havanna, October 12. One of the most remarkable features of this war is the utter insignificance of the naval operations on both sides.

"CLASSING THE BLOOD," upon which characters have been so much, is not a mere catchword and definition. The microscope shows that some disease exists like parasitic growth upon the globules of blood, and it is further known that some subtle substances destroy or expel them. These substances have been combined to make Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which does effectually expel the disorder that breed and reside in the blood, to rot out, as it were, the machinery of life. Beauty.

The largest collection of beauty ever published in the United States is afforded in the Parlor Album, advertised in another column. This Album contains the finest specimens of chromo lithographs, steel engravings and the wood engravings ever afforded the public. The American Publishing Company of Rutland Vt., desire an active agent in every town and village, to whom they offer liberal terms. Read the advertisement of PARLOR ALBUM.

Mercator.—"Among the thousand and one pianos offered to the public, we scarcely know any instrument so fully meeting all the desirable qualities sought for as the Knabe Piano. The reputation of the Knabe Pianos is an inflexible guarantee of excellence. In the houses of the most accomplished and wealthy of our citizens, and in our best seminaries and colleges, these magnificent instruments may be found. Nor is this any wonder, for, in purity, depth and constancy of tone, they are unsurpassed. Their gradation of keys is so equalized, and at the same time, conveniently arranged, that they are capable of expressing every emotion of the human heart and soul. Their tone is equally pure and unique, and so even, sweet and sympathetic that it inspires all who listen to it, while at the same time the action is perfectly free, and the keys respond to the touch with sensitiveness and intelligence, so to speak, as to make one almost think that the mind of the manufacturer fingers in his work."

Dear Sir, Mind.

When disease has undermined the health, and the physical system has become prostrated, a safe and salutary aid will not only strengthen but remove the cause, should be immediately resorted to. The great desideratum is also a faithful source of the breaking down of the constitution, and the ravages of this enemy to health. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have been found unsurpassed. By acting directly upon the digestive organs, they remove the heavy, disagreeable food after eating, so often complained of by persons of a delicate temperament. As soon as digestion is restored, the patient finds his strength increasing, and his general health improved.

Thousands of persons testify that it may be relied on in all cases of weakness or nervous debility attendant upon sedentary habits. The generality of Bitters are so disagreeable to the taste that they are objectionable to a weak stomach. This is not the case with Hostetter's Bitters, which will be found mild and extremely pleasant. Bile salts, placenta, and roots contribute their restorative juices to render it soothing and strengthening. Its basis is the only pure stimulant which has ever been produced, containing no alcohol, or any other deleterious element. The most careful and skillful chemists have analyzed the Bitters, and pronounce them harmless. This is scientific testimony, but the testimony of hundreds of thousands of men and women who have experienced the preventive and curative effects of the Great Vegetable Tonic and Alterative of modern times. Hostetter's Bitters, Nervous Complaints, Chronic Complaints and general debility it is as nearly infallible as anything in this little world can be.

CABOON'S BROADCAST SEED SOWER.

FOR SOWING ALL KINDS OF GRAIN AND GRASS SEED.

The unprecedented success of this Sower the past year is without a parallel in the history of Agricultural Implements. It has probably received more first Premiums at State Fairs in the fall of 1869, than was ever awarded any other machine of any name or nature, in one year. Joseph Harris, author of "Walks and Talks," AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST, says: "I like the Caboon Sower very much indeed." The following from a noted grain grower, speaks for itself: "Knoxville, L. 1 Nov 18 1869. Dear Sir, The Broadcast Seed Sower you sent me last spring is the best Sower I ever saw. I used it in the same field with the other with the Drill. The work was done in one-quarter of the time with the Sower, the crop, when threshed yielded more, and the grain was better. I have used it entirely for my fall sowing of wheat and rye. For sowing grass seeds, clover or milk no other machine could do the work so well. A great many farmers, when they saw it, said it was only a play thing and that it would not do any thing but sow seed. I have now sown it in a fifty-acre field with one man loading as fast as I can, and one man carrying grain to him, and four teams following after. Their next business was to work the field, and they were surprised to find it so evenly distributed."

SO GOES THE WORLD.
Our varied days pass on and on,
Our hopes fade unfulfilled away,
And things which seem the life of life,
Are taken from us by the day.
And yet, through all the busy streets,
The crowd of pleasure seekers throng,
The puppets play, the showman calls,
And gossip chat the whole day long.
And so the world goes on!

The house grows old and once was gay,
The dear ones seek their blessed home,
And we may watch and wait in vain
To hear the well-known footsteps come.
And yet the sunlight drenches the floor,
And makes the summer shadows long.
The rosebuds at the casements bloom,
The bird pours forth its cheerful song,
And so the world goes on!

And God goes on and with our woe
Weaves golden threads of joy and peace
Guarding within His heart of hearts,
Our days of pain, our days of ease.
He makes them all the seed, the sheaves,
The deeper's sowing, the summer's tears,
And keeps them safe—His children all—
Through all the great eternal years,
And so, thank God, the world goes on!

The Wretched Condition of South Carolina.
The condition of South Carolina, as depicted in the second letter of ex-Governor Perry to Governor Scott, is such as to excite the warmest sympathy in behalf of the oppressed white people of that State, and the strongest indignation against the ravening wolves—worse than that—hyenas, who are preying upon them. The following paragraphs tell the melancholy story.

The government of the State is in the hands of our former slaves, and vile adventurers, who have come here from the North to prey on our vitals and return laden with stolen wealth. The intelligence and wealth of the State are powerless, incapable of holding office, and crushed into the dust by ignorance, pauperism and rascality. Taxes are levied on them by those who pay no taxes and own no property. All the offices of the State are filled with negroes, scoundrels and carthoppers. Is it to be expected that a high-toned, brave and honorable people would be quiet under the circumstances, and see their property destroyed by rough and ignorant legislation?

Several of our most important railroads have fallen into the hands of Northern adventurers. By the grossest bribery and corruption the Legislature has been induced to release the lien of the State on the roads, amounting to millions of dollars, and have issued $1,000,000 of State bonds for the same companies, with privilege of selling them at any price and pocketing the money. Again the Legislature have ordered $6,000,000 of State bonds to be issued, which they call a sterling debt, and which are to be exchanged for the present bonds, of the State. It has been shown that this exchange of bonds, if honestly made, will cost the State over $1,000,000. But this is not all. The fraud and stealth which may be practiced in issuing these sterling bonds cannot be foreseen or calculated. Four hundred thousand dollars before the war paid the whole expenses of the State Government. This year taxes to the amount of $4,000,000 have been levied by the Legislature for the same purpose. And the county commissioners will have to levy $1,000,000 more for county expenses.

New way of Paying Debts.
The Montgomery Advertiser, of a recent date, tells the following story. If Bach had lived in these days, virtuous legislators would have spared him such a dose. A vote for "relief," so called, would have fixed him all right.

In the early days of Montgomery, a Mr. John M. Bach was numbered among our merchants. He became involved, and much of his paper went unpaid. One cold night, a crowd of gentlemen (and Mr. Bach of the number) were setting around a fire at the "Montgomery Hotel," at the lower end of Commerce street. A rat, in attempting to pass from one side of the hearth to the other, had all the hair singed off his carcass, and was captured. The late General Thomas L. Woodward, ever ready for fun proposed to surrender up to Mr. Bach his note for fifty dollars, if he would eat the rat alive in the presence of the company. Unexpectedly to the whole crowd, he accepted the proposition and accomplished the feat to the amusement of all. Not a claw, bone or anything else pertaining to the rat did he leave. He coolly remarked that he would like to apply that novel mode of paying debts to all of his outstanding obligations.

DR. SCHENCK'S advises Centinip lives to go to Florida in Winter.
Having for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the cure of lung diseases and consumption, I am enabled to state that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a thoroughly diseased lung to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose is in winter, in Florida, well down in the State where the temperature is regular, and no subject to such variations as in more Northern latitudes. Patents in point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles further down the river is a point which I would prefer to Patoka, as the temperature is more even, and the air drier and fresher. Mollenville and Bitter Springs are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mollenville. It is two miles from river or lake, and is a most desirable place to take cold there. The climate in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times that it is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite, and when this is the case they generally increase in flesh, and then the things must wait.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are that patients are less liable to take cold there than when there is a cold even ten miles away, and it is not necessary to say that where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds he is certain to die shortly. Therefore my advice is, go well down into the State out of the reach of prevailing cold winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat or cough, but for those whose lungs are diseased it is more southern Florida is correctly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1857, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully, and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schonck's Pulmonic Syrup," "Schonck's Tonic and Mandrake Pills," and yet if he does not avoid taking cold, he will not be cured. I have seen many cases of "Schonck's Pulmonic Syrup," "Schonck's Tonic and Mandrake Pills," and yet if he does not avoid taking cold, he will not be cured. I have seen many cases of "Schonck's Pulmonic Syrup," "Schonck's Tonic and Mandrake Pills," and yet if he does not avoid taking cold, he will not be cured.

My plan is to give my medicines, in accordance with the patient's condition, except in some cases where I give one of the Mandrake Pills. I know that where they are used in strict accordance with my directions they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, I know that they will do the work that is required. [READ HOME TESTIMONY]
NEAR CEDAR BLUFF Feb. 28, 1871.
MESSRS. J. & S. BONES, Dear Sir:
I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear to my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the watch) in eleven minutes. I find no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short a time. I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.
Yours Truly,
H. H. MILLER.

MY HIGHWAY ROBBERY.
BY JAMES MAURICE THOMPSON.
"No money! What in thunder?
you got on for? How'd you expect to travel on this road 'thout the stamp? Off with you, and no whining round me! I know my business and you know yours, maybe. Any baggage?"
"No baggage," I muttered dolefully. "but you can take my overcoat. I can get the money at Savannah."
"Dang your old overcoat?"
"What you s'pose I want with your old rag?"
"Rags! Look here there's not a break in this coat. Good as new."
"Off with you, quick!"
"For heaven's sake!"
"Shall I kick you off?"
"I'm a thousand miles from home."
"Dang your home! Off with you, or I'll sling you off."
"Try it if you dare!"
Whop! I fell flat! I fell flat! I knew! spat! scuffle a-bang!- know! thrash! whop! and out we went together onto a pile of cross-ties. As he clinched me I struck him a heavy blow in the face with my right fist, while with my left hand I pulled the bell-rope.
Toot! toot! said the signal whistle and off went the train.
Do you quite understand what I had done? It's all very plain to me. I had stolen a conductor.
Let me be explicit. To tell you the truth I had just served through the war in the confederate army, and only twenty-one years old at that. You know there was a conscription law and when I was eighteen I had to go in. I was assigned to duty in Florida, and when the war ended I found myself suffering from a wound and a thousand miles from home. I staid in Florida till the winter of '68, when finding myself well again, and seeing no earthly chance of ever finding any employment in that distracted State which would enable me to lay up money enough to pay my way home on the cars, I set out afloat. Not till I had walked a hundred miles or more did I fully realize the difficulty of my undertaking. In consequence of my wound I had for a long time been indoors, scarcely taking any exercise at all, and now, although I was well, I was tender as a woman.
My feet swelled so that I had to split my boots all to pieces, and my legs got stiff and sore. I suffered from lack of food, too, at times, for the country through which I passed was thinly settled, with people so poor that they had nothing for me.
Finally I reached the railroad, and as it was my most direct route to Savannah, where I hoped to find some friends, I followed it. This railroad passes through the outlay-ing marshes and cypress swamps of the great Okefenokee swamp, and it was in the most dismal part of that wild barren that a happy idea entered my brain. It was that of stealing a ride. A freight train had just passed me going north,

For Tax Collector

We are authorized to announce the name of

THOS. P. SAVAGE.

as a Candidate for the office of Tax Collector.

THE FRAUDULENT BONDS.

Gov. Lindsay has come out with an explanation of the reason which induced him to direct the payment by the State of the interest on the two million dollar and four millions of endorsed bonds paid to the A. & C. Railroad.

We can not think his reasons entirely satisfactory, or that he has fully carried out the "letter and spirit" of the law under which he acted. The investigation before the Legislature satisfied that body that these bonds were fraudulently issued, and void in the hands of the original holders; but that the State was in honor bound to pay the interest on such of the bonds as had passed into the possession of bona fide purchasers for a valuable consideration.

By the act approved March 2nd, it is enacted "that no interest shall be paid on any of said bonds, not proved to have been sold to bona fide purchasers, by the bona fide purchasers of the bonds."

The law of the State was in the hands of the bona fide purchasers, not on the Government. The Legislature certainly never intended that the Governor should leave the capital of the State, and start off in a "wild hunt" after innocent bond holders. Such a course was unwise and imprudent, at least on the part of his Excellency.

The proof required should have come from the other parties, from their claiming to be bona fide purchasers of the bonds. This is in accordance with law, common sense, and the "letter and spirit" of the act.

Again it is fair to presume that Gov.
Lindsay had received the letter of ex-
Gov. Smith, addressed to him April 2d.
Ample time had elapsed for him to do so. Now although in a criminal case, the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice may be insufficient to convict.
Yet in civil cases the rule is different.
Besides ex-Gov. Smith's letter points clearly to most important proof in his possession—the correspondence of the Directors of the Road, and their financial agents. He points to other material witnesses for the Governor's state facts which strongly show that the house of Erlanger & Co. were "particeps criminis" in with the Directors of the Road,
and Souter & Co. their financial agents, in the fraudulent issue, and sale of these bonds.

Under these circumstances it is a little strange that Gov. Lindsay should have examined no other witnesses than the very parties implicated in the fraud. He first called on Souter & Co., and was so overpowered with their wonderful confession, in furnishing him with a sworn statement, from their books, that he at once jumped to the conclusion: "It is all right." How these Bankers may have chuckled over the effect of their politeness and manipulations, as well as the easy credulity of the Governor. They probably set down and wrote to Stanton after the fashion of their letters of April 19th, 1870.

"We are now in a very snug condition."
The State will pay all or nearly all the interest on the bonds. "The next witness called upon by Gov. Lindsay, is a German Banker by the name of August Goettel, an agent as he represents himself to be, of Erlanger & Co. Heretofore Brandtels appears as their agent;
but he now, mysteriously disappears, and Goettel turns up. Brandtels "had put his foot in it" in his examination before the Legislature. Goettel comes right up to the search and seizes the two million bonds straight through, and the interest into the coffers of his house.

This is the evidence on the two million bonds. Gov. Lindsay does not inform us what evidence he had about the four millions of endorsed bonds. The presumption is that it was not as strong as the above, for the Governor would not evidently select his best and strongest case for his own vindication. The whole course of Gov. Lindsay was unusual, first, in leaving the capital, secondly, in shifting the onus of proof from the parties interested and implicated in the fraud—entirely ignoring, not only the testimony of ex-Gov. Smith, which seems disposed to make a clean breast of it, but all the materials and instruments of proof furnished him by Smith's letter. The testimony of the parties even is altogether pari passu—an affidavit drawn up by their Lawyers and sworn to by them. This is investigating with a vengeance! We think the reflecting "solid men" of the State, out of whose pockets this large amount of interest on fraudulent bonds must be drawn, will say that Gov. Lindsay has come to a "most lame and impotent conclusion," and that his action in the premises can not meet with their approbation.

Mr. Editor:

I believe that it is the wish of the people of the county that Lookin W. Cannon, be again elected at the coming election, to the office of County Treasurer. He was legally elected to the office once, and lost it only through his stern adherence to the principles of the great Democratic majority of old Calhoun county. It being now in our power, let us restore to him that has been taken from him because, forsooth, he was true to his people and true to his section. Let us re-elect him to the office of county Treasurer, in November

LETTER FROM GOV. LINDSAY TO THE PEOPLE.

Executive Department,
STATE OF ALABAMA,
Montgomery, April 23d, 1871.

To the Citizens of Alabama:

Circumstances have rendered it emphatically proper that I should furnish the people of Alabama with a statement of the facts which influenced and controlled my action in regard to the bonds of the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad Company, and the State's liability incurred on account of said Company. The grave importance of the matter, and the deep and natural solicitude which pervades the public mind, have induced me justly to me in thus commencing my message to the Legislature at its next annual session.

It is well known that when the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad Company was organized, on the 1st day of January, last,
to meet the interest then due on the bonds of the State, loaned to said Company, and also on their first mortgage bonds,
and persistently refused to pay said interest until compelled and required by the Legislature to do so. When this unpleasant and vexatious matter, the Legislature had adjourned for Christmas recess. Upon its re-assembling I communicated the matter, with the facts connected therewith, to the public through the State messenger. I said: "I have been urged to pay the interest due on the bonds of the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad Company, and positively refused and shall continue to refuse unless compelled and required by the Legislature to do so. I responded to the Legislature, and I responded to the people, saying that, 'I do not desire the State of Alabama to manifest an intention to meet her just and honest obligations, but I do not insist upon her right and her duty both to herself and to the citizens to be her creditors to institute this investigation before she pledges her future.'

In accordance with this expressed view,
the General Assembly entered the following law, which I approved on the 21st day of March last:

AN ACT.

To provide for the payment of the interest due and unpaid upon the valid claims against the State, on account of the failure of the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad Company to pay said interest.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Alabama, That the Governor be, and he is hereby, authorized and required to inquire into and ascertain the amount of bonds issued and loaned to the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad Company, and of the bonds of said company endorsed by the State, and when such amount is ascertained, the Governor shall make provision by temporary loan, or from money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay the interest upon said bonds, whenever the compensation attached thereto shall be presented to him, or to any agent he may appoint for that purpose: Provided, however,
That no interest shall be paid upon any of said bonds, not proved to have been sold on the first day of January, eighteen hundred and seventy-one, by innocent

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENTS.

Spring Term 1871 Circuit Court of Calhoun County.

The undersigned members of the Grand Jury, sworn in to serve at the present Term of the sitting of the Calhoun Circuit Court, beg leave to make the following general presentments, resulting from investigation in the discharge of official duties.

We have made diligent enquiry into and careful examination of all matters pertaining to the public good and welfare of the county. We find the books and papers connected with the Probate Judge's office, kept in a style that is unexceptionable. The same may be said for the books of the Treasurer and Clerk.

We have examined the county jail and find that the prisoners are properly cared for, and that the jail is kept in a neat and clean condition. We find that some repairs are needed on the building. The guttering is out of order.

We have heard some complaint of the Public Roads being out of order. We hope the proper authorities will take the matter in hand and see that all the various roads have their proper apportioned, overseers and hands.

As to the financial condition of the county we refer to the published quarterly statements of the Treasurer and Judge of Probate.

From the matter presented for the consideration of the Grand Jury, coming in it does from every portion of the county, it is to be regretted that the moral condition is not such, taken collectively, as the prompt and practical administration of the criminal laws demand. In this particular we refer to minor offences, as very few grave characters have been presented.

In closing these presentments, we desire to express our unqualified approbation of your honor's seeming disposition to shirk no responsibilities in the discharge of official duty.

Our worthy Solicitor, also, demands, more than a passing mark of notice at our hands, for his promptness and willingness to assist us in all of the duties pertaining to his office.

All of which, we most respectfully submit.

A gentleman picked up in front of our office on Tuesday a silver trinket, which he would turn it over to Mr. J. M. Carroll, with the hope, that he would bring the means of bringing them face to face with their (one of them) "fate." Now if the owner turns out to be a "colored" man, it will be a good joke on the boys.

J. M. Carroll has submitted partly a proposition to the Council to bring water on the square from the spring, which we think will be accepted at the next meeting of the council, as the best that can be done now. If accepted, the water will be spending out on the square in less than six weeks.

We have conversed with Messrs. McDaniel and Crow who, with Warren Harris are just returned from Texas. They report that Gatewood is dead as published in the papers of Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. They saw him and talked to him. He is not only a good steady citizen and highly esteemed among his neighbors. Gatewood never did much damage except to the Yankees. He killed scores of them, and that we don't blame him for.

We are glad to see that our efficient Marshal, Mr. Pruitt, is working out and making college street, beautifully, with the aid of the delinquent street tax payers.

One of our most charming young ladies remarked on her hearing the other day that our Post Office was the most attractive she had ever seen. That she had been long on opinion; but we know she is sanctioned by one we know and respected so much of that rare taste that distinguishes the sex, we knew that she was not so through the River-Box or not. Now we make bold to say that Billy has the most charming and tasteful establishment in connection with his Post Office and Express Office, not only in Jacksonville, but even in Alabama. He keeps every imaginable thing and is constantly receiving more—a whole volume of "puffs" for his establishment, in itself.

Our thanks are due to that excellent accomplished lady, Miss. J. W. Jones, for a bowl of large and fine strawberries. May her variety of Fruits and Flowers, in which she takes so much delight, flourish in a manner commensurate with her virtues and generous impulses.

We cannot withhold from the workmen Mr. Blakeham the need of praise they deserve. They have recently turned out very good job for the Proprietor of this paper. To particularize, Henry Whatland and Jerry Turner, did excellently on front veranda of the building. They good workmen. Mr. McNally, who put the balustrade was a very superior workman.

OUR MULE.

Some time ago we had an election in our town for Mayor and Aldermen. The issue was between old America and young America. Old America never did lay down a platform. Young America did. Their platform was "A MULE AND CART AND WATER WORKS." This having done a platform, throwing the gauge of battle among our usually quiet townspeople, that the Young men's ticket was elected triumphantly by the vast majority of—say—well, three or four.

The old Council afterwards confessed that they might have beaten us, but for the chance embracing the mule and cart. That was Gibraltar—that was impregnable. It was as fatal to them as the jawing of a singular animal was once in the hands of Sampson against the Philistines.

The new regime thus happily inaugurated set faithfully to work to redeem the pledges made to a sanguine and trusting constituency. Such redemption involved fine, whereof none were visible. Happily the old council, while leaving a multitude of accounts to be paid, also left about 2 or 4 hundred Dollars worth of "bad and doubtful" debts for taxes. Out of these about $65.00 was accumulated. Inasmuch as the "mule and cart" part of the platform had proved its value, it was determined that that should be the first reform inaugurated, but how to inaugurate on $65.00 was a question, which, after reference to two or three Committees on Finance still remained unsolved.

At this juncture, a wholesomely and public-spirited gentleman occupying a brick house in the "flat" came to the help of the body and gave us a partial solution. He offered to give the council a cart and take it out in future taxes. It is needless to remark that the offer was promptly accepted.

The great question now was to get a mule to pull the cart and a committee was appointed to purchase one. (A negro who wasn't going to be particular about pay in advance had already been employed to drive the mule when procured.) Therefore, the procurement of a mule became the absorbing and agonizing query in the minds of the committee.

From this time on, every man that rode a mule into town became an object of special interest to the committee, and they more critically scanned everything with long ears than they had ever done before. Whenever a very shabby animal would come along, the whole committee would rally forth and with special reference to amount on hand) enquire of the owner the price of the beast. Sometimes it would be an hundred dollar or near, which would immediately throw the young Committee into a fit of dispondency. At another time, the price would so nearly graze the actual amount of cash on hand as to create the most intense excitement among the members of the committee. On such occasions one would detain the owner of the cheap animal until Pruitt could be precipitated, inquest of funds, "like a wolf on the fold" among the luckless delinquent tax payers, who generally wouldn't get done "census" until Pruitt could return to inform the Council that there was no money that he could get that day. This announcement generally split the trade.

This thing went on until one day who should ride into town but Tom Gault. Tom rode an animal, that, while it couldn't be called ugly, was certainly very sprightly (under the spur). He was known, moreover, to be a trading man and hadn't got fairly into the square before he was covered by two of the committee, while a runner was sent for the third.

After some general talk one of the committee carelessly remarked: "Tom! what animal that?" "Anyhow," was the ready answer. "Does he ever run away?" "Never that I ever heard of."

This seemed to be satisfactory. The committee drew off for conference during which they made sundry deprecatory observations upon the "points" of the animal in Tom's hearing. After a while, not without trepidation, the Chairman of the committee put the momentous question.

"What do you ask for him." "Sixty-five Dollars, and the best animal of his age for that, in the State."

This was enough. Tom had exactly struck their pile (an accident of course) and the committee at once set short Tom's stereotyped exclamation on the merits of his animal by a general and unanimous: "We'll take him."

Thus the trade was closed and thus our mule became an institution of the Town. On the day that the command of the council to "bring forth the animal" was promulgated, some twenty or thirty of the citizens of our village had gathered to catch a glimpse of him, among whom was a reporter from the Republican office.

He found the animal something different than when Thomas was riding him, owing probably to the fact that Gault will not retain its strength always. In the face he looked pretty much like any other mule, only that he looked more like a sheep. His mane presented pretty much the appearance that the hair, whiskers and eyebrows of six or eight of our prominent citizens, some six or eight years ago, did—there was none to speak of. His shoulders were perfectly straight and his sides fell off from it like the roof of the Episcopal church building. His haunches wouldn't have tempted a Parisian Epicure. On one of them there was a bald spot. This, according to the tradition of the elders was the result of a wound received at the battle of Bankers Hill.

Others affirmed that it was more likely, the result of old age—an imputation the committee as indignantly resented, as did the Marshal a proposition a lay made him to swap him a first rate dog for the animal. Others still, affirmed that he was the same old mule that had been the link to build Fort Morgan. This last, that he was not "dull" stirred the very depths of the Committee's hearts. That the mule, if he was the same, had "mattered" to the rebellion? They were not disposed to dispute; but that he had willingly entered into such service, they were ready to fight over. Indeed so hegerant did the committee become on this particular point, that our people were not only willing but anxious to swear that he was actually not bristling—a mere youth. His tail—when he would that tail mid in flight—when "Wouldn't you like to see that young fellow? Make thy two eyes like stars, start from their sockets."

They knotted and combined locks to part, And each particular lock to stand on end, Like quills upon the fretful porcupine? Indeed, he was such a mule as one meets only in a lifetime—an animal beside which Bartram's "What is it?" pales into insignificance.

"Well, did he work anywhere?" "Yes, he would work anywhere, but then he was not at a time, and only as it pleased him. He had a fondness for hills in one direction and an utter aversion to them in another. His force was done in the only way he ever was got up one, was to start him up and get him thoroughly impressed with the idea that you were going to drive him any then to slip around and pass a handkerchief over his eyes and quietly turn him around and start him. He would back up freely."

This, however, was some little trouble and the committee, as much as they regretted, determined to part with him. Just as this conclusion had been arrived at, Mr. Arnold, another trader, most importantly happened along. He had an animal that he would consent to let go for the Corporation mule and $50.00 to boot. The trade was made. Something larger than the other, he has only the greater capacity for showing his utter worthlessness. He is constantly sipping like a furnace which suggests to the observer either belows or love, whichever he may fancy to attribute to him. Then he sneezes in the day time. Someway it is distempers. Others that it is only a labor he has of falling asleep while at work. All these animal traits are quite matter of pride to the purchasers. He is a large party, dignified, lazy old fellow, and we may confidently assert will never run away.

THANKS.—The cordial and sincere thanks of the senior of this paper are due to that excellent and reliable mercantile firm of Alexandria, Messrs. Green & Leiberich, for the handsome present of a fine and fashionable Gen. Lee Hat, which fits to a T.

We repeat here what we have said before, that we have never known an individual or firm who was generous to the printer, but what were liberal, correct and fair dealers, and also, successful in business. May success and prosperity attend them. We were not informed, but presume by this hat of latest fashion that they have received a full stock of Spring and Summer Goods.

In another column we print the advertisement of B. L. Wyman of Montgomery. He is the most extensive dealer in the city. We heartily commend him to the patronage of our people.

We take pleasure in speaking in complimentary manner of Mr. Mauk, a painter who has just completed a job for the proprietor of this paper. He is a steady, industrious and accomplished workman.

The bridge leading from Main street across the drain opposite the M. E. Church is in a bad and dangerous condition. Whose duty is it to fix it? It is the duty of the Marshal, let it be done at once, for there is much crossing upon it.

The communication of our friend on the subject of water works will appear next week. We most heartily endorse his idea on the subject.

THE KUKLUX BILL.

Full Text of the Law as approved by the President.

Transferring all Criminal Jurisdiction to Federal Courts, and Authorizing the President to Suspend all State Government and Proclaim Martial Law at Will.

An act to enforce the provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That any person who, under color of any law, statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage of any State, shall subject, or cause to be subjected any person within the jurisdiction of the United States, to the deprivation of any rights, privileges or immunities, secured by the Constitution of the United States, shall, in such law, statute, ordinance, regulation, custom usage of the State to the contrary notwithstanding, be liable to the party injured in action, lawsuit, etc., in equity or other proper proceedings for redress, such proceeding to be prosecuted in the several District Circuit Courts of the United States, and, subject to, the same rights of appeal, review upon error or other remedies provided in like cases in such courts, under provisions of the act of the 6th of April, 1866, entitled "An act to protect all persons in the United States in their civil rights and to furnish means for their vindication."

Sec. 3. That in all cases where insurrection, domestic violence, unlawful combinations or conspiracies in any State, shall so obstruct or hinder the execution of the laws thereof and the States so as to deprive any portion or class of people in such State of any rights, privileges, or immunities, or protection named in the Constitution and secured by this act, and the constituted authorities of such State shall either be unable to protect, or shall, from any cause fail to refuse protection to the people in such rights, such facts shall be deemed a denial by such States of the equal protection of the laws to which they are entitled under the Constitution of the United States and in all such cases, or whenever any such insurrection, violence unlawful combination or conspiracy shall oppose or obstruct the laws of the United States, or the due execution thereof, or impede or obstruct the due course of justice under the same, it shall be the duty, to take such measures, by the employment of the militia and naval forces of the United States, or of either, or by other means as he may deem necessary for the suppression of such insurrection, domestic violence, or combinations; and any person who shall be arrested under the provisions of this act and preceding sections shall be delivered to the marshal at the proper district, to be dealt with according to law.

Sec. 4. That whoever, in any State or part of a State, the unlawful combinations named in the preceding section of the act shall be organized and armed, and so numerous & powerful as to be able by violence to either overthrow or set at defiance the constituted authorities of such State and the United States within such State or where the constituted authorities are in compliance with, or shall connive at, the unlawful purposes of such powerful and armed combinations; and whenever by reason either of all the causes aforesaid, the conviction of such offenders and the preservation of the public safety shall become in such districts impracticable, in every such case such combination shall be deemed rebellion against the Government of the United States, and during the continuance of such rebellion, and within the limits of the district which shall be so under the sway thereof, such limits to be prescribed by proclamation, it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, when in his judgment the public safety shall require it, to suspend the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus to the end that such rebellion may be overthrown, provided that all the provisions of the second section of an act entitled and "an act relating to habeas corpus regulating judicial proceedings in certain cases," approved March 3, 1863, which relate to the discharge of prisoners other than prisoners of war, and the penalties for refusing to obey this order of the court shall be in force so far as the same are applicable to the provisions of this section: Provided further, That the President shall first have made proclamation, as now provided by law, commanding such insurgents to disperse; & provided also that the provisions of this section shall not be in force after the end of the next regular session of Congress.

Sec. 5. That no person shall be a grand or petit juror in any court of the United States upon any inquiry bearing on the trial of any suit, proceeding, or prosecution based upon or arising under the provisions of this act who shall be in compliance with any such combination or conspiracy. Every such suit, proceeding or inquiry upon any such inquiry bearing on the trial, take and subscribe an oath in open court that he has never secretly conspired, advised or voluntarily aided any such combination or conspiracy; and each and every person who has taken this oath and shall thereon swear falsely shall be guilty of perjury, and shall be subject to the pains and penalties declared against that crime in the first section of an act five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment, with or without hard labor as the court may determine, for a period of less than six months, not more than six years, as the court may determine; or by both, such fine and imprisonment as the court shall determine; and if any one or more persons engaged in such conspiracy shall do or cause to be done any act in furtherance of the object of such conspiracy, whereby any person shall be injured in his person or property, or deprived of having and exercising any right or privilege of a citizen in the United States, the person so injured or deprived of such rights and privileges may have and maintain an action for recovery of damages occasioned by such injury or deprivation of rights and privileges against any one or more of the persons engaged in such conspiracy; such action to be prosecuted in the District or Circuit Court of the United States with and subject to the same rights of appeal, review upon error and other remedies provided in like cases, in such courts under the provisions of the act of April 4, 1866, entitled "An act to protect all persons in the United States in their civil rights and to furnish means for their vindication."

Sec. 6. That any person or persons having knowledge that any wrongs conspired to be done, and mentioned in the 2d section of this act, are about to be committed, and having power to prevent, or aid in preventing the same, shall neglect or refuse to do so, and such wrongful act shall be committed, such person or persons shall be liable to the person injured, or his legal representatives, for all damages caused by any such first named person or persons, by reasonable diligence could have prevented, and such damages may be recovered in an action in the case in the proper Circuit Court of the United States, and any number of persons guilty of such wrongful neglect or refusal may be joined as defendants in such action: Provided, That such action shall be commenced within one year after such cause of action shall have occurred. And if the death of any shall be caused by any such wrongful act and neglect, the representatives of such deceased person shall have such action thereunto and they recover, not exceeding $5,000 damages therein, for the benefit of the widow of such deceased person, if any there be; or there be no widow for the benefit of his or such deceased person.

Sec. 7. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to supersede or repeal any former act or law, except so far as the same may be repugnant thereto; and any offences hereafter committed against the tenor of any former act, shall be prosecuted and any proceedings already commenced for prosecution thereof shall be continued and completed in the same as if this act had not been passed, except so far as the provisions of this act may go to sustain and validate such proceedings.

How many hear the gospel but do not hear it attentively?—A telegram on the Exchange—they read it with both their eyes—will there be a rise or fall of stock? An article from which they may judge of the general current of trade—how they devour it with their minds. They suck in the meaning, and then go and practice what they have gathered from it. A sermon heard, and lo, that minister is judicious to how he preached it—as if a man reading a telegram should say the capital letter was not well inked on the press, or the dot to the "t" had dropped the letter? or as if a man reading an article, instead of seeking to get at its meaning, and act upon its advice. Oh, how men will hear and think it to be the height of perfection to say that they liked or disliked the sermon! As if the God-given preacher cared one dot whether he liked or did not like his sermon, his business being not to please your tastes but to save your souls, not to win your hearts for Jesus, and bring you to be reconciled to God.

In Chambers at Jacksonville, Ala., April 12th 1871. Edward E. Davis, vs. Justina Walton Davis.

In this case it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the Register by affidavit of the undersigned, on file that the defendant Justina Walton Davis is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, and that her place of residence is in Spartanburg South Carolina, and that she is over twenty-one years of age. It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Jacksonville Republican a newspaper published in the town of Jacksonville, Alabama, for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said defendant to appear and plead to or answer the bill of complaint filed against her in this cause, by Monday the 5th day of June, A. D. 1871, or within thirty days from the day a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

THE NARROWS.

Rev. A. J. Waldrop, of Rockville, Ala., under date of April 12th, communicates as follows to the Blount Star:

There has much said in the papers about the rich deposits of coal, iron, marble, &c., of our county, but there is a romantic spot within her limits to which you nor any of your correspondents have ever alluded, so far as I know. I mean "The Narrows." Imagine yourself at Big Creek Church, in the Western part of our county, (at which place I was a few days ago, and wishing to return by my mother's, I chose the road that would lead me through the "Narrows.") After travelling one or one and a half miles east, you are all at once astonished to find yourself travelling along down the banks of Mud Creek, leaving it on your right. Well, you will think this is strange, as you know you are going up the country, but go on only two or three hundred yards and you are suddenly met on your left hand by Big Valley Creek, which has its rise at or about our town, and which is, at this point, quite a river, and dashing along at a fearful rate. So, on your right hand is Mud Creek, running east, and on your left hand is Big Valley Creek, running west. Come, on "John," don't be alarmed, this is only a fancy trip. Many have passed over it in reality, and you can go on with you. Well, up a steep hill we start, both crooked and crooked, and we are engaged their waters, and here we are travelling up one and down the other for two or three hundred yards, and the division between them is very narrow indeed, the narrowest place not being probably over twenty-five or thirty feet wide, and here we are in the top of this elevation. On our right Mud Creek is dashing its proud and angry billows along at a fearful rate and perhaps we are from 500 to 1000 feet from its waters, and on our left is the Big Creek, much larger than the other, going equally rapid down towards the Black Warrior, and we are, perhaps, from 100 to 150 feet above its waters. If you want to step off on your right hand, you must fall in the waters of Mud Creek, and if on our left, you will certainly go into Valley Creek. I concluded before I got to this place that I would get down from my horse and go to the creek, but when I got there it seemed like everything said "stay where you are." This strange and romantic spot, and if any of your readers wish to see nature clothed in grandeur and stand and wonder at the works of God, let them visit the "Narrows." Mud Creek runs one or two miles east before it enters into Valley Creek and so is in reality passing on both sides while you are in the "Narrows."

I travelled on up Valley Creek and wondered why so many fine sites for mills and factories were not used to drive machinery and thus convert our raw material into cloth.

OBITUARY.

Among other faded stories told of San Domingo, is one asserting that the inhabitants have reached the out s. limits of economy in providing themselves with meat, drink and clothes.—It is done in this wise.

Watermelons grow on that island to an immense size, and can be bought for a song. On very hot days your Dominican buys to market in a state of nature and buys a watermelon. Scooping it out he thus provides himself with food and drink, after which he gets in one hemisphere and shuts himself up with the other. Upon the melon the sun may beat with its utmost fury, but the sleeping native in the hemispherical refrigerator, does away his hours without caring whether school keeps or not, or knowing Baez from Cabral. It is to be hoped brother Wade will not omit this great advantage in his report.—Charleston Courier.

To Make Cows Give Milk.—The agricultural editor of the Beckers' Journal vouches for the following, handed him by a friend: "If you desire to get a large yield of milk, give your cow three times a day water slightly warm, slightly salted, in which bran has been stirred at the rate of one quart to two gallons of water.—You will gain twenty-five per cent, immediately under the effects of it, and she will become so attached to the diet as to refuse to drink clear water unless very thirsty, but this mess she will drink almost at any time and ask for more. The amount of this drink is an ordinary water pail at each time, morning, noon and night. Your animal will then do her best at discounting the lactation."

To Your Men.—Let the business of every one alone and attend to your own. Do not buy what you don't want. Use every hour to advantage, and study to make a leisure hour useful. Look over your books regularly. If a stroke of misfortune comes upon your business, retrench, work harder, but never fly the track. Confront difficulties with unflinching perseverance, and you will be honored; but shrink and you will be despised. Seek to acquire the power of continuous application, without which you do can not expect success. If you this, you will be able to perceive the difference which it creates between you and those who have not such habits. You will not count yourself, nor will they count you one of them. Thus you will find yourself emerging into the higher regions of intellectual and earnest men—men who are capable of making place for themselves, instead of idly gaping desiring a place.

The York Star says the recent Democratic victory in New Hampshire was due to the fact that the people there "do not believe longer in the statesmanship of Grant." We would not have supposed that, a people who ever believed in the statesmanship of Grant would have had sense enough to find their way to the polls.

Having for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably and case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold, and to keep the lungs warm in winter, is Florida, well down in the State where the temperature is regular, and no subject to such variations as in more Northern latitudes. Patients in a cold climate, I can recommend a good hotel is kept there by Petermann. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles further down the river to a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even and the air dry and bracing. Melbourneville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Melbourneville. It is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times that it is too good, and it indicates a return of appetite, and when this is the case they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Florida, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature, and it is not necessary to say that where a consumptive person exposes himself to great cold he is certain to do so. Therefore my advice is, go well down into the State out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat or cough, but for those whose lungs are diseased, the best southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1859, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully, and hence, my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schonck's Pulmonic Syrup," "Schonck's Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schonck's Medicines, especially Schonck's Mandrake Pills, for the reason that they like to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well established fact that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one third, at least, of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States it does not prevail so largely, still there are many thousands of cases. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh cold as they are about scurvy, small pox, &c. But they are not. They take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope for cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected even slightly is, to buy in stock a box of Schonck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schonck's Seaweed Tonic and Schonck's Mandrake Pills and take to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that where they are used in strict accordance with my directions they will do the work that is required. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough or high winds and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is to give my medicines, in accordance with the pointed directions, except in some cases where I am obliged to change. My Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is to give tone to the stomach—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to get longer and longer, and do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough or high winds and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

Now there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point, by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, and to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. Let me state indisputable on record that Schonck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what is termed "chronic consumption." Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by my cure.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than colic, and have none of its harmful effects. In fact they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have parietal too freely of fruit and diarrhoea ensues, a dose of the Mandrake will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrake and you will relieve you in two hours. If you would divide the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night or every other night, and you may then drink water and eat watermelons, pears, apples, plums, peaches or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have adopted my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15, NINTH Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Responder will be charged five dollars. The Responder declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say that when persons take my medicines and their systems are brought into a healthy condition, thereby, they are not liable to take cold, and one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting any one, and can be bought from any druggist.

NEAR CEDAR BLUFF Feb. 28, 1871.

MESSRS. J. & S. BONES, Dear Sir:

I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and can but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear to my gin, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the watch) in eleven minutes, I find myself troubled to do my grinding before breakfast. Several of my neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, and were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short a time. I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

Yours Truly,
